

Simulocity's "SIMCITA Virtual Platform" Featured on Healthcare Tech Outlook's Top 10 Healthcare Simulation Solution Providers

Orlando, Fla., Jan 2, 2020 —

Simulocity, LLC., a technology innovations firm based in Central Florida that provides solutions in simulation and virtual reality for companies seeking to expand their consumer base, is thrilled to announce that it recently has been featured on Healthcare Tech Outlook's Top 10 Healthcare Simulation Solution Providers for 2019.

Healthcare Tech Outlook is a magazine that has focused on providing a learn-from-peer approach to the healthcare arena by offering technical advice to those in the field, be it practitioners to administrative professionals. Their print platform has offers decision-makers in the healthcare industry information on adopting new programs to provide the best quality of care.

Each year, Healthcare Tech Outlook prints a special issue highlighting ten companies that are creating innovative solutions in areas like diagnostics, healthcare simulation, and more.

Simulocity's latest groundbreaking product, SIMCITA, which includes an immersive virtual conference center experience for exhibitors and attendees to meet and attend education sessions, has earned awards from several healthcare and business publications, including CIO Applications' Top 10 Simulation Innovation Providers and others.

Simulocity, LLC is an award-winning firm, providing trusted virtual solutions for its global customers. Headquartered in Orlando, Florida.